A dozen or more of the men-of-war-men marched through the streets last night singing Italian melodies.

At noon to-day His Majesty will give a reception at the Palace to the officers of the Italian man-of-war now in port.

Two cleaning pans were shipped for Lihue, Kauai, and three rollers for the Hanalei Mill by the steamer Planter yesterday.Mr. L. J. Levey will sell 150 boxes apples without reserve this morning at ten o'clock and at noon he will offer the sloop Lark for sale.

Battalion drill by the Volunteer Companies was held last evening on the Esplanade under the command of major "Wipe your Sweats."

Mr. Page is refitting the old building of the Honolulu Carriage Repository which was partially burned during the corner fire some months ago.

The Honolulu Boat boys commenced practicing last night for positions in the club's junior crew. The practice hour is set for five o'clock each afternoon.

It is reported that a Sunday evening paper is to be started soon—the next time rumor will probably have it a Sunday noon paper. Two midnight papers are already published here.

Mr. Severine, of Williams &amp; Co.'s, took yesterday a picture of the Y. M. C. A. building, one of the Library building, and a street view of Hotel street looking toward Fort street.

It is reported that a burglary was committed upon the premises of Mr. A. Kraft, at Makiki, on last Saturday morning. The burglar did not get much beside a can of milk and a package of sugar.

It has been intimated to Messrs. Tavernier and Wright that His Majesty the King will honor them by making his public debut as a Royal Author in their illustrated work on the Island "The Rainbow Land."

It is encouraging to see that some body has taken it in hand to repair the waste-water pipe at the back of Goo Kim's store which has been flooding the alley-way there for some time past. It was beginning to smell rather loud.

As the one o'clock whistles were blown yesterday a trunk horse with a rope and a young tree attached thereto dashed up Fort street and disappeared out Merchant street leaving an interrogation point as to where its mad course would terminate.

H. B. T. Satellite left Victoria, B. C., four days before the Alameda left San Francisco for this port on her last trip and is expected to arrive here during the next few days. Navigating Lieutenant, R. N. Saules, who arrived by the Alameda will join the Satellite here.

The thoughtful property owner who has realized a public want and repaired the sidewalk in front of Williams &amp; Co.'s ought to continue the good work by relaying the wooden sidewalk in front of McCarthy's cigar store. This walk is lower than the street and the unfortunate wayfarer is obliged to wade in wet weather.

A partial eclipse of the moon took place here last night, in spite of the announcement she wouldn't come off. The eclipse commenced about 7:40 P. M. and lasted about three hours. The size of the eclipse at its middle phase was 0.48 digits. At San Francisco the eclipse commenced at 10:05 P. M. last evening and ended at 1:13 A. M. this morning. At Havana it commenced at 0:44 A. M. this morning and ended at 3:52 A. M. At Washington it commenced at 1:06 A. M. this morning and ended at 4:14 A. M. This eclipse was visible throughout the United States, South and Central America, the West Indies, Mexico and portions of the South Pacific.

About half past one o'clock yesterday afternoon one of the teams of the Woodlawn Dairy almost ran away from in front of the store of Benson and Smith on Fort street. Mr. Brundage, the driver of the milk wagon, held to the reins right manfully and succeeded in holding the "fiery and untamed" steeds, although they were kicking over the traces, until bystanders caught them and avoided the mid-day laying out of a new "milky way."

Major Henry C. Dane will deliver his third popular lecture this evening at the Y. M. C. A. Hall. The lecture will doubtless be a literary treat. In speaking of this lecture the Los Angeles Express says: "Constantinople, the Queen of the Levant, is an interesting subject, and it was worthily treated. Major Dane is a close observer, and his opportunities while in Constantinople were very great. His descriptions of the Bosphorus and of the Mosques and Palaces of the city were graphic and delightful in the extreme."

By a letter received from Mr. W. Raymond, written to a citizen here, we learn that Mr. Raymond, who is the manager of "Raymond's Vacation Excursions" has organized four excursions which will visit the Pacific Coast and the Hawaiian Islands as follows: Excursions will leave Boston November 12, 1885, December 10, 1885, January 14, 1886, and February, 1886. The time allowed for each of these excursions will be about two hundred days. Several weeks of this period be spent in San Francisco and vicinity; the remainder of the time will be spent in Hawaii and in transit. These excursions have been materially promoted by one of our most worthy citizens.

A letter was received by the last steamer from Signor Farini that he will arrive in Honolulu with his Opera Troupe on the return of the steamer Alameda on the 22d of October next. Signor Farini announces that in addition to the stock company he will bring to the Islands Miss Jennie Winton, one of the most charming sopranos in the country. The remainder of the troupe will consist of Miss Louise Parker, prima donna, soprano; Mlle. Anna Rosette, prima donna soprano; Mlle. Emma Hupf, prima donna contralto; Mr. Charles Throver, tenore di grazia; Signor A. Farini, baritone and solo pianist; Mr. H. Hughes basso profondo; and Herr F. Herold, conductor and pianist. While the troupe is here they will give seven performances of selections from popular operas. The amount now subscribed to the opera fund is $2,010.

Yesterday morning about half-past nine o'clock a Portuguese child belonging in Fowler's Yard narrowly escaped death on Hotel street opposite Mr. Ramsey's grocery store. The child was running at large on Hotel street, where a seven-year old youngster should not have been alone, when a hack came suddenly out of the alley-way next to the "Bay Horse" saloon, and turning into Hotel street, the horse knocked the child down and almost ran over it. The hackman could not help knocking the young one down but he ought to have stopped and seen if it was killed or not. This he failed to do and another hackman picked the child up and carried it to its home. It was severely bruised but was not dangerously injured, although it is a wonder it wasn't killed outright. Some people ought not to be allowed to raise children; some hackmen ought not to be allowed to drive horses; and most children deserve spanking whenever they are caught in the street. There now.

Annual "Camp Fire" of the George W. De Long Post No. 45, Grand Army of the Republic.

The third annual "Camp Fire" of the De Long Post was held last evening in the Post room on King street, the occasion being the celebration of the founding in this city, of the Post in 1882.

The celebration was an entirely informal one, the comrades, with a number of invited guests, assembled in the Post rooms and enjoyed themselves in pleasant chat until the "supper call" was sounded. At the signal all took seats at the two tables set in the ante-room of the Post, between thirty and forty comrades and guests being present.

The supper tables were covered with "camp" viands. Pork and beans, coffee and hard-tack, (with sandwiches for the veterans who lost their teeth in the war) milk (for the recruits) and water, chick-a-hominy, Bull-run beef, "On to Richmond" pickles, "Let-us-have-peace" pie, (loudly called for) Contract rice (from Hopper) and Richmond lasses. Every man had his pot, pan and spoon, and S. V. Commander White under whose superintendence the feast was spread, was kept busy with a big spoon in each hand, ladling out pork and beans in which task he was aided by Quarter Master Greene.

All around the room were hung American flags, and at one end was displayed the Hawaiian national ensign. At the other end of the room was hung a portrait of General Grant. There was a banjo and educated bellows (sometimes called an accordion) that some of the comrades handled with skill. Tobacco was also provided, there being a few (?) of those present who smoked, and when supper was finished toasts were drunk to the President of the United States, Hawaii-nei and His Ex. the United States Minister Resident. These toasts were responded to in a suitable manner, and while the Minister Resident was speaking His Majesty the King entered the room and his was the next health drunk. His Ex. Governor Dominis, Major

Dane, Comrade Cruzan and others made speeches and some pleasing reminiscences of the work were recounted.

The "Camp Fire" broke up, every one well pleased with the evening's reunion. The following are the names of the comrades present on this occasion: Post P. C. R. W. Laine, Post Commander N. B. Emmerson, Senior V. Com. J. T. White, Q. M. R. Jay Greene, Chaplain Jas. McKeague, Adjutant F. L. Clarke, Commanders Jerry Simonson, C. P. James, V. V. Ashford, W. F. Williams, J. H. Lovejoy, J. D. Sullivan, T. K. McDonnell, L. Adler, Wm. McCandless, Jonah Austin, T. H. Bachme, E. C. Webb, W. H. Place, J. D. Coun, J. A. Cruzan.

Among the guests present were His Majesty the King, His Ex. Governor Dominis, His Ex. U. S. Minister Resident Merrill, E. H. Allen, Jr. H. H. M's Consul General at New York, Major Dane, Hon W. C. Parke, B. F. Dillingham, Esq., J. A. Hopper and others.

During the evening the Royal Hawaiian Band marched past the Post room playing "Marching through Georgia" in the chorus of which the comrades joined with a will.

PORTRAITS.

To obtain an accurate and perfect portrait take your photograph to King Bros. art store, No. 87 Hotel street and they will have it enlarged to any size desired and finished in oil, water-color, crayon, or India-ink to your entire satisfaction and at a very reasonable price—call and see specimens.

Last evening the writer was attracted by the tempting display of fruit and other goodies, in the store of Henry Davis &amp; Co., No. 73 Hotel street and induced to enter. Mr. Davis drew attention to his patent ice-box, recently constructed for the purpose of preserving all perishable articles such as Butter, Fruits, Vegetables, Cysters, Fish, etc., which are received by every steamer. The ice-box is divided into two compartments, the upper part of each being a large ice-chest, while the lower part is intended for Fruits and Vegetables, etc., on the one side, and Butter, Fish, etc. on the other. A vacant space, between the lining and case of the box, is so arranged as to convey a constant current of cold air from the upper to the lower compartments, serving to keep everything in a perfect state of preservation.

This firm serves the public by keeping a supply of ice on hand, in quantity to suit, as it is often difficult to procure the same within a convenient distance.
